CHARLES HILTON ARCHITECTS

Thoughtfully designed traditional buildings, attention to detail, fine-quality materials, and meticulous craftsmanship are the hallmarks of a Charles Hilton Architects residence. The firm has earned a reputation for creating traditionally inspired residences, landscape features, and architectural interiors that are beautiful, practical, and fit harmoniously in their settings while incorporating clients' needs, passions, and preferences. They appreciate subtle regional influences and understand the opportunities and limitations inherent in each site, seeking to maximize views, daylight, and surroundings.

CHA's quality is evident on every project, whether sensitively responding to existing conditions while expanding an older home, enjoying the creative freedom afforded by a new home project, or helping an entrepreneur realize their vision through a small commercial project. They strive to create buildings of enduring character and function that seamlessly exploit the benefits of modern building technologies.

Success in such breadth of scope requires a collaborative design approach. Charles Hilton has been fortunate to collaborate with some of the most talented landscape architects, interior decorators, engineers, and craftsmen in the region to create an impressive body of work. The firm's success is also attributable to the close relationships with its clients, many of whom are repeat patrons.

Currently, eleven highly dedicated individuals with specialized training ranging from historic preservation to sustainable design to architectural interiors call CHA home.

While the firm's focus remains beautifully crafted traditional residences in Fairfield County, Connecticut, and Westchester County, New York, Charles Hilton has successfully completed projects spanning from the woods of Maine to the coast of Southern California.
