≡ Charles Hilton Architects

After securing a prime site on a scenic cove along Long Island Sound, this client of Charles Hilton Architects requested a comfortable, New England shingle-style home that fit the location and captured the views. The office area of the curved master suite takes full advantage of the natural surroundings, with custom-designed his-and-her desks that each face the water. "The detailed millwork does a wonderful job creating the feeling of the interior of a ship," says Keith Williams.
